

Symmons Evolution®

What is it?

Symmons Evolution monitors commercial water systems and gives instant alerts when water issues occur.

This innovative platform offers:

- ✓ Non-invasive installation process
- ✓ Data sync to cloud via private network with no impact to the property WiFi
- ✓ 24/7 monitoring and real-time text/email notifications for water issues such as leaks, temperature anomalies and rogue events
- ✓ Control over water system performance
- ✓ Immediate results and action items with 24/7 monitoring, sending you proactive alerts when issues arise. You will learn about issues early for faster fixes and before your occupants become aware that an issue exists.

Reduce Your Costs

Symmons Evolution can help to reduce a number of your operational costs, such as:

- Remediation costs Symmons Evolution alerts you of property water temperature issues early to quickly diagnose the root cause for faster and less costly repair costs. The platform detects leaks before they cause significant damage, lowering your remediation costs.
- Inefficient water management For example, cross-flow issues can result in hot water going to toilets, resulting in wasted energy costs.
- Wasted diagnosis time Repair costs can increase when your team spends time trying to research and understand your system to diagnose water problems. With Symmons Evolution, you will understand your system's infrastructure as well as water issue causes to lower your repair costs.

Benefits of Symmons Evolution

Keep Occupants Happy

According to industry studies, water temperature issues are a top complaint.

Symmons Evolution allows you to detect water issues early—before they impact your occupants. It also helps you quickly remediate water issues in your property, minimizing the risk of occupant impact and enabling your staff to focus on your customers over plumbing problem fixes.

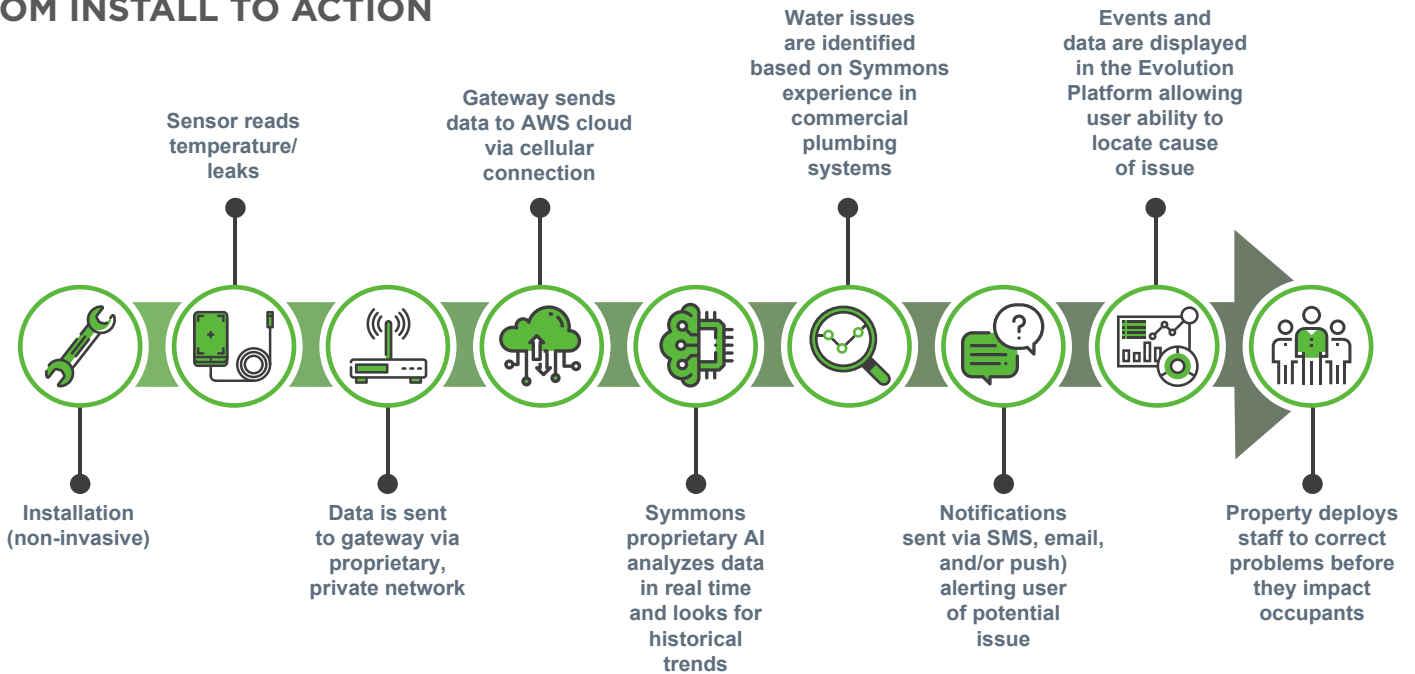

Gain Peace of Mind

How confident are you that your water system is working properly? It's likely that you will learn about problems only after occupants complain. Symmons Evolution allows you to see your water system's performance in real time

FROM INSTALL TO ACTION

Ensure Your Occupants' Safety

Symmons Evolution helps you manage your water to reduce the risk of water injury or illness to your occupants—as well as costly litigation that could result if occupants were to experience injury or illness.

Increase Visibility into Your Water System

Do you or your staff know the inner workings of your water system's infrastructure? If not, Symmons Evolution can provide you and your team with insight into your water system's performance.

Protect Your Revenue

Issues during property stays can directly impact your revenue, profitability, ADR, occupancy rates, and all other key performance metrics. Symmons Evolution can help you catch water issues early and before they impact your occupants' experience, which can escalate into whole or partial reimbursements, bad online reviews, low ratings, and occupants telling friends and family about their negative experience.

Take Control of Your Water System

Delivering a consistently positive customer

The Evolution system worked fabulous... The direct notifications allowed our security and facility teams to pinpoint the issue and resolve.

— James Coneys,
Chief Engineer”

experience is stressful enough when every day brings new issues. Symmons Evolution allows you to manage your water system, taking water issues off your plate. When your system's data shows you how your water system is performing, you are empowered to find issues faster and deploy remediations more quickly.
